

NO POOP FOR ME, THANK YOU!

A Potty Training Story for Kids Who Just Aren't Ready

By Oliver Bennett

COPYRIGHT

Copyright © 2026 by Oliver Bennett. All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form without written permission from the copyright owner. Printed in the United States of America.

Milo had a favorite toy—Ellie the elephant. They did everything together.

*Milo and Ellie played with blocks.
They painted pictures. They even used the potty for pee. Go, Milo!*

But there was one thing Milo didn't want to do: poop on the potty. He didn't even want to try.

"No poop for me, thank you!" said Milo, holding Ellie tight.

That's okay. You can just sit for now.

Milo sat on the potty with Ellie beside him. Nothing happened. And that was okay too.

The next day, Milo felt a rumble in his tummy.

*"No poop for me, thank you!" said
Milo, running away with Ellie.*

Papa knelt down. "It's okay to feel nervous," he said gently.

Milo hugged Ellie tight. Maybe Ellie could help.

Milo took a deep breath. Maybe just one try.

Milo sat on the potty again, Ellie in his lap. His tummy rumbled louder.

"I think... maybe... okay," said Milo quietly.

And then—success! Milo did it on the potty!

"I did it!" cheered Milo, jumping up with Ellie.

Mama and Papa cheered too. "We're so proud of you!"

The next day, Milo felt the rumble again.

This time, Milo walked straight to the potty. No fear at all.

"I've got this," said Milo with a big brave smile, Ellie tucked under his arm.

Milo wasn't scared of the potty anymore. Not one bit — and neither was Ellie.

Thank You for Reading!